- Forensic Psychology involves work associated with police services, the legal process, and correctional services.
- Health Psychology includes health promotion, prevention and management of physical illness/conditions, and work associated with the health care system.
- Older Adult Psychology focuses on the management of mental health problems in the adult population who are aged over 60.
- Neuropsychology involves assessment, diagnosis, and management of individuals with cognitive and emotional impairments after acquired brain injury or developmental problems.

This directory is provided as a guide to local APS Psychologists in the Sunshine Coast Area. It is not all inclusive or intended as recommending these APS Members over non-listed members. At the time of printing, all Psychologists listed in this directory held General Registration with the Psychologists Board of Queensland, were members of the Australian Psychological Society, and at the listed addresses and telephone number. We regret any inconvenience that may be caused by the psychologists listed changing their contact details during the 12 months that this directory will be in circulation.
